

REDS SMASH BERLIN'S LAST DEFENSE LINE

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

In one of its "stay alive in '45" notes, the Ohio Safety Council calls public attention to deadly carbon monoxide gas as one of the things that annually takes a heavy toll of human life, largely through carelessness.

Many deaths have been caused in Fayette County over a period of years, and many others have narrowly escaped death from the deadly fumes that arise from improper combustion in gas and coal stoves, and from the exhaust of gasoline motors, such as as automobile engines.

Last year 1800 persons lost their lives in the United States, due to monoxide gas in their homes, so if a room heater is in operation, it should not only have a flue but proper window ventilation in the room containing the heater.

When banking a fire at night, always leave some red coals in the stove or furnace, is the admonition of the Safety Council. Beware of the exhaust of automobiles, such as leaking manifolds or motors, is another step toward safety from monoxide gas.

"Even if you can't smell carbon monoxide, or see it, you can avoid it," the Council states.

I am passing the Safety Council's warning on to you in the hope that you will think twice before failing to take precautions against the unseen killer.

Will Ford, former well known local hardware dealer, this city, possesses one of the most remarkable caps in the community.

It is made of real Alaskan seal-skin, and was presented to him by his father, E. L. Ford, in 1882, or a matter of 63 years ago.

The cap is so arranged that it can be pulled well over the ears when necessary, and is without a visor.

It is still in excellent condition regardless of the long years of service it has seen. However, Will has not worn the cap for many years, but it is one of the keepsakes that he treasures very highly.

27,242 CASUALTIES SINCE LAST WEEK

Army and Navy Total Since War Began Is 764,584

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(P)—American combat casualties since the beginning of the war have reached 764,584, the Army and Navy disclosed today.

Secretary of War Stimson placed the Army's losses at 676,796 while the Navy listed its total as 87,788. This represented an overall increase of 27,242 since last week's report.

Stimson said the Army casualties represented a compilation of individual names received in Washington through Jan. 28 and reflected battle developments at the end of December and the beginning of January.

The secretary said 865,000 Germans have been taken prisoner in the Western Front since the invasion last June.

A breakdown on the Army's casualties and corresponding figures for last week follows: killed 130,266 and 121,676; wounded 396,176 and 379,638; missing 91,476 and 91,573; prisoners 58,878 and 57,533.

Stimson told a news conference 4,522 of those killed previously had been listed as missing but now have been declared dead. He also disclosed 191,439 of the wounded have returned to duty.

Similar figures on the Navy breakdown: killed 33,192 and 32,899; wounded 40,248 and 39,807; missing 9,873 and 9,750; prisoners, 4,475. A decrease in the latter category reflects transfers to other classifications.

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 8.—(P)—Esther Nehring, 28, of Covington Ky., plunged to death yesterday from the 29th floor of the Carew Tower, Coroner Frank W. Coppock reported.

FARMER DRAFT IS CHALLENGED; FIGHT BREWING

Plans for Reconstruction in Europe After War Under Scrutiny of Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(P)—Two senators today proposed a congressional inquiry "to determine who is responsible for the wholesale inductions of essential farmers and farm workers where no replacements are available."

While the senate military committee was hearing additional demands for work-or-jail manpower legislation, Senators Tydings (D-Md) and Reed (R-Kas) introduced a measure reaffirming the policy of the Tydings amendment to the draft act and calling for the inquiry.

The Tydings amendment specifies that essential agricultural employees shall not be drafted unless replacements for them are found.

Tydings told the senate that Selective Service has attempted to "brush aside" the amendment. He said Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey in effect told local draft boards to "go to it" if they desired to take farm workers for whom there are no replacements.

Reed said senators had talked with Hershey and that the draft director "made clear he had no intention of complying with the Tydings amendment."

Tydings asserted that when a manpower bill comes to the senate floor he expects to see attached a rider "that will go further than the Tydings amendment ever did."

He was not "making a threat," Tydings added, but was just stating what he thought would happen if Selective Service does not take clarifying action within a week.

Tydings asked that the bill he and Reed introduced "lie on the table" until a "work-or-jail" measure is reported.

Postwar Plans Studied
Republican members of the House foreign affairs committee sought from the administration today the full story of United States plans for helping the reconstruction of the postwar world.

Into a session considering a one-year extension of the lend-lease program they brought a request for detailed reports on the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration and other world economic plans.

"The people and the Congress must know within the next six months what if any part the United States will take in the reconstruction," (Please Turn to Page Two)

FATHER OF FOUR HELD FOR BIGAMY

He Began Marrying Three Wives in 1934

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Feb. 8.—(P)—Homer D. Hostler, 30, of Iron-ton, O., father of four children, was held here today on charges of bigamy filed last January 24 in Tippecanoe circuit court, Lt. James Fisher of the Lafayette police department announced.

Lieut. Fisher said Hostler confessed to charges that he was married to three women concurrently.

The charges state Hostler married Helena Chacka in Detroit in 1934 and lived with her until 1941, when he left his wife and their three children and went to Indianapolis, where he married Helen Wilson. That union produced one child.

Hostler's third wife, the charges state, was Harriett Fairchild of Lafayette, whom he married in October, 1941.

NEW TRUCK TIRE PLANT TO BE BUILT AT NEWARK

NEWARK, Feb. 8.—(P)—Furber Marshall, president of the Pharis Tire and Rubber Company of Newark, announced today a new $2,250,000 truck tire plant would be built here and is expected to be in operation around July 1.

The plant will be adjacent to the present factory and will provide employment for about 700 additional persons.

Veterans' Aid Bill In Ohio Legislature

Opposition to Woman Member of State Liquor Boards Fades; State Park in Adams and Scioto Counties Proposed

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8.—(P)—Bills for the creation of separate funds, one to be used to aid needy war veterans and the other for the purchase of additional land for conservation were introduced in the House today.

Rep. Paul I. McCormick (R, Logan) and Fred L. Hoffman (R, Hamilton) introduced a bill for the creation of a $10,000,000 perpetual state fund of which the proceeds would be used for relief of needy veterans of World War II.

The fund would be administered by the governor, the lieutenant-governor, the secretary of state, the auditor and the attorney-general under terms of the bill.

Rep. Frank W. Moulton (R, Scioto), introduced a bill providing for purchase of 82,900 acres of land in the Shawnee State Forest area in Adams and Scioto counties for conservation purposes. It would appropriate $580,300 for the project.

Liquor Board Question
Opposition to the appointment of Mrs. Maude McQuate of Cleveland to the State Liquor Control Board was reported weakening in the Senate today as a vote was deferred until next week.

Some of the Republicans, who control the Senate, have expressed fear that disapproval of the appointment might reflect unfavorably upon them, especially in view of reasons for the opposition.

While the publicly announced explanation for the opposition was that Cleveland should not have two representatives on the four-member board, a few of the senators don't like the idea of having a woman on the board and a few are fearful Mrs. McQuate might be unreasonably strict. Medical Aide Digs Foxhole in No Man's Land To Protect Two Wounded Doughboys

By HAL BOYLE
WITH THE AMERICAN FIRST INFANTRY DIVISION IN GERMANY, Feb. 1.—(Delayed)—(P)—One medical aide saved two buddies from almost certain death by digging them a foxhole in the middle of a battlefield while the fighting raged around them.

When his platoon was pinned down and suffered numerous casualties in an advance against three enemy machineguns on a 100-yard front, S-Sgt. Ellery M. Andrews of Litchfield, Minn., helped drag all the wounded he could reach back to an aid station.

Farther up were two men who couldn't be moved. Nazi machineguns were sweeping the area. An-

Policy for Occupation and Control of Europe Being Worked Out by Roosevelt, Churchill And Stalin at Conference Now in Progress, Probably Somewhere in Russia

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(P)—Big Three plans for joint political action in Europe are expected here within the week.

Calling for active American participation in European settlements, they will mark the beginning of new period in United States foreign policy.

The plans are being worked out by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin at an historic conference now believed to be at least half-finished somewhere in the Black Sea area.

Presumably the meeting is on Russian soil, possibly in the Crim-mea in order to allow Stalin to continue his close supervision of the Red Army invasion of Germany.

A joint announcement late yesterday, evidently direct from the conference, was released in London and Moscow and at the White House. This finally put the meeting officially on the record and confirmed the fact that political problems of Europe are a prime concern of the meeting.

The discussions have fallen into two parts:

1. The military talks led off the meeting and resulted in "complete agreement" for joint Anglo-Soviet-American army operations

"in the final phase of the war against Nazi Germany." The military staffs which accompanied the three leaders to the Black Sea are working out detailed plans.

2. As soon as the talk of fighting was completed, Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill took up "problems involved in establishing a secure peace." They listed plans for the occupation and control of Germany, the political and economic problems of liberated Europe and proposals for the earliest possible establishment of a world organization to "maintain peace."

Street Fighting Raging In Fire Ravaged Manila

By LEONARD MILLIMAN

Artillery duels roared over the explosion-torn streets of Manila today as American armor and foot soldiers strove to wipe out Japanese who transformed the city into a battleground.

Nothing but fire-scorched rubble and blackened steel and concrete shells remained of five of Manila's leading theaters, two big hotels, five banks and the city's largest department store. This is only a partial census of the three-day demolitions by Japanese who still dominate the southern section of Manila.

Surviving Chinese poked through the charred remains of Chinatown, one of the most densely populated sections of the city, hunting missing friends and relatives. No official source has yet estimated the possible death toll in the burned out residential sections.

The destructive Japanese fight in Manila contrasted sharply with Tokyo's description of Manila as an unimportant phase of the battle of Luzon which "is fought for very high stakes."

Fierce jungle battles were underway on Bataan peninsula and

WORLD TRADE CONFAB THROWS FLOOR FIGHT

Whether To Let Liberated Countries In Is Source

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(P)—The World Trade Union Congress pitched into a floor fight today over a proposal to invite delegates of former Axis-dominated countries to the labor meeting. The American delegation failed in an attempt to shunt the dispute into a committee room.

George A. Isaacs, British delegate and one of the congress' three presidents, ruled out of order a motion by James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, to refer the question back to the standing orders committee.

The recommendation that Italy, Bulgaria, Romania, Finland and the Polish provisional government in Warsaw be invited to send representatives to the congress came to the floor yesterday with the unanimous endorsement of the committee and with Russian, American and French support.

FLAMING DYNAMITE TRUCK

STEUBENVILLE, Feb. 8.—(P)—A trailer truck loaded with dynamite today skidded on an icy hill near Reeds Mill, 20 miles west of here and caught fire but did not explode, the State Highway Patrol reported.

Okey Dick, driver, of Huntington, W. Va., was uninjured. He could give no explanation for the blaze which was extinguished by Steubenville firemen.

Helpless Wounded Yank Made into Booby Trap

Bizarre Story of German Brutality Told in Hospital by Doughboy Who Laid on Dynamite Charge for 70 Hours Before He Was Picked Up

TEMPLE, Tex., Feb. 8.—(P)—Pvt. William H. Edwards' foot was blown off and he was crying for water, but the three Germans ignored his pleas. They wired explosives to his body, and left him—a human booby trap.

Edwards told his story today at McCloskey General Hospital here . . . how his right foot had been blown off by a mine . . . how the Germans fastened the explosives to him . . . how he knew that if he moved he was doomed . . .

if it help came when he was unconscious, he and his rescuer would be killed.

He lay there for hours between American and German lines in the Huertgen forest, under a constant artillery barrage. German 88 shell fragments hit his left leg.

This member of the Fourth Infantry Division, who has a wife and six children in Hayti, Mo., had begun what was to have been a 40-minute night patrol, he said today.

Near the German lines, Edwards stepped on a mine which blew off his foot. He lay until morning, fearing he might betray his comrades.

Fortunately his wound was one in which the veins and arteries are forced upward so they are, (Please Turn To Page Twelve)

U. S. FIRST ARMY CLEAR THROUGH SIEGFRIED LINE

Panic Grips German Capital As Russian Tanks Reported Probing Into Outskirts

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

(By the Associated Press)
Moscow radio announced triumphantly today that the Oder line had been pierced by Soviet troops, and that "Berlin, in panic, is witnessing the crumbling of the last obstacle in its forefend."

A Finnish broadcast recorded by the British Broadcasting Corporation said today "Russian tanks have probed to the outskirts of Berlin."

Soviet artillery hammered the low west bank of the Oder between Kuestrin and Stettin, weak link in the defenses before Berlin, and an American commentator in Moscow broadcast that the Russian capital expected momentarily an announcement that

ADVANCE IN BRIEF

Second Infantry: Slashed through Siegfried line.

Fifth Infantry: Gained beyond Sure River.

78th Infantry: Captured Schmidt.

80th Infantry: Advanced beyond Sure River.

84th Infantry: Captured Sinz, 3 1-2 miles inside Germany.

17th Airborne: Advanced beyond Sure River.

90th Infantry: Cleared pillboxes in drive on Puen.

the river had been crossed in force, "signifying the complete breakdown of the Oder line."

The Russians have control of a 2-mile stretch of the east bank in the Kuestrin area and virtual control of a 50-mile stretch, and Berlin said seven bridgeheads, one of them 30 miles from the Reich capital, had been won by the Red army. Roads south and west of Berlin were reported jammed with refugees.

In the west the U. S. First Army, driving clear through last barriers of the double Siegfried line 15 miles southeast of Aachen, occupied bloody Schmidt and neared the remainder of vital Roer River dams.

Farther south in the 70-mile active front, the Third Army poured through a seven-mile breach in the Siegfried line to within a mile and a quarter of the fortress and communications hub of Puen, 53 miles southwest of Coblenz.

The attacks at Schmidt and Puen appeared to be the beginning of a breakthrough to the Rhine. Schmidt, which was one of the strongest belt positions in the Siegfried line, is 28 miles from the river. Ninth Army troops before Dueren are but 20 miles from the river and its greatest city, Cologne.

Capture by the Americans of the Roer network of dams, which could have sent torrents against British and Americans massed along the river, might signal the new Allied offensive in the west. A possible prelude to a massed (Please Turn to Page Ten)

RAINBOW DIVISION KEEPS TRADITIONS

Month of Combat Proves Them Worthy of Honors

WITH THE 7TH ARMY IN ALSACE, Feb. 8.—(P)—Thrown into the line on Christmas Day, the men of the 42nd (Rainbow) Division have proved in a month of combat that they are worthy of the honors the outfit won in the First World War when Gen. Douglas MacArthur was its chief of staff.

"They're as good men as their daddies ever were," boasts Brig. Gen. Henning Linden of Muskogee, Okla., who holds MacArthur's old job.

Reactivated at Camp Gruber, Okla., on July 14, 1943, during the annual reunion of Rainbow veterans of World War One, the 42nd has inherited other characteristics of the original outfit in addition to its zest for battle. It has all the dash that marked the old Rainbow Division and it uses the distinctive chin-out, heads-up salute—which MacArthur taught it 28 years ago.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR PAPER AND TIN CONTINUES

Both Materials Are Vital To Meet Demand in War Emergency

Despite weather and shipping conditions which have slowed down and in some communities stopped entirely the collection of waste paper and used tin cans, Fayette Countians and Ohioans generally today were being urged by Ralph H. Stone, director of the Ohio State Council of Defense, and James Leslie Hubbell, executive secretary for Ohio, Salvage Division, WPB, to keep up their saving of these vitally needed war materials.

"We realize that in many communities collection of wastepaper and tin cans has had to be stopped or delayed until the weather is more favorable," Stone said. "This does not alter the fact that these materials are just as necessary as ever to the conduct of the war and that when collections are resumed they should yield an even greater ratio of tonnage than before."

Hubbell quoted a recent order from the WPB Tin-Lead-Zinc division which cancelled all authorizations for the use of tin that existed prior to September 1, 1944, in order to conserve the diminishing tin stockpile. Day by day, Hubbell pointed out, increasingly drastic restrictions are being applied in order to eliminate any but absolutely necessary uses of this precious metal.

"Every time the housewife prepares a tin can for salvage she is contributing to her country something which cannot be obtained in any other way," Hubbell stated. "Whether those tin cans she prepares are collected this week or next actually makes little difference in the overall picture. The tin stockpile of this country is diminishing, but with the cooperation of every housewife in America keeping up a reserve in her own home, the national stockpile can be rebuilt quickly as regular local collections are resumed."

VETERANS' AID BILL IN OHIO LEGISLATURE WITH OTHER PROPOSALS

The governor's office, which sent up the appointment, ridiculed reports that Mrs. McQuate was a "reformer."

The appointment has been held up in the Senate Rules Committee since Feb. 1. Mrs. McQuate was appointed to succeed Harry E. Hawley of Shelby. Both are Republicans.

Probe Approved. The Senate gave its approval yesterday to a resolution creating a committee to investigate municipal police and firemen's pension funds, many of which are in financial distress. House concurrence is expected.

The committee would recommend to the legislature methods for putting the funds on a more sound financial basis, preliminary to a possible grant of state funds.

An unusual step in government was proposed by Rep. Howard M. Metzbaum (D) of Cleveland in a bill which would authorize the state, cities and counties to enter into contracts with labor unions "concerning wages and conditions of employment."

Many public employees hold membership in labor unions, but they have no right to engage in collective bargaining with state and local governments.

Legislation to pay off the bonded debt of the four state bridges aggregating $2,790,000, to make them toll-free and abolish the State Bridge Commission was introduced by Senator Joseph T. Williamson (D) of East Liverpool.

A warm issue was brought before the legislature again when Senator Fred G. Reimers (R) of Cincinnati introduced a bill to extend for two years the Ross Act, liberalizing the working condition and hours of women and minors.

Passage of the act two years ago was preceded by weeks of controversy between management and labor adherents in committee hearings.

Altogether, 73 new bills were introduced yesterday—53 in the House and 20 in the Senate. The others included these:

To provide prison sentences of one to five years for persons convicted of giving or accepting bribes to influence the outcome of an amateur sports contest.

Requiring employers to obtain permits from the director of industrial relations to employ women longer than 8 hours a day or 48 hours a week.

Requiring that all dogs be vaccinated against rabies each year.

To discontinue local option elections on 3.2 beer, and Allow high schools to establish additional grades providing vocational training for war veterans.

Snow And Ice Melting As 'Warm Wave' Arrives

(By The Associated Press)
A February thaw which Chicago forecasters expected would encompass the whole northern part of the nation within 48 hours set in today in the northern Rocky Mountain area.

It was practically made to order to melt away heavy accumulations of snow and ice in the mid-western and northeastern states but it also carried the menace of floods in the east, Pennsylvania was alerted and began mobilizing for an emergency.

A warm, dry wind on the east slope of the Rockies sent the mercury zooming to 51 at Denver, Colo. In southern Alberta province in Canada, temperatures mounted into the 40's in some places.

The forecasters said the warm weather would move into the northern plains states today, spread through the upper Mississippi valley and Great Lakes region tomorrow and later into the northeast. They expected no further precipitation of consequence.

Pennsylvania state and federal authorities warned that conditions like those before the 1936 floods, ice jams, rising temperatures, deep snow and prospect of rain, prevailed from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh. Distribution of typhoid vaccine began, war veterans and civilian defense workers mobilized and the coast guard said its rescue boats were ready. It was warm and raining in Ohio.

SOLDIER WHO WOULDN'T DRILL FACES PRISON, NOT GALLOWS

CAMP ROBERTS, Calif., Feb. 8.—(P)—Pvt. Henry Weber was out of the shadow of the gallows today, his death sentence changed to life imprisonment, his wife continuing her fight for him.

When the 27-year-old soldier, a shipyard foreman at Vancouver, Wash., before being drafted, was sentenced by court martial to hang for refusing to drill, his case attracted nationwide attention.

Yesterday, by direction of the commanding general of the camp, the court martial reconvened, revoked the death sentence, sentenced Weber to life imprisonment at hard labor, gave him a dishonorable discharge, and ordered his pay forfeited.

In Portland, Oregon, his wife conferred with an American civil liberties official. She declared life imprisonment for her husband is "still outrageous."

"I am more determined than ever," she said, "in fighting for justice for my husband." She said her understanding of conscientious objector is that it can refer to "any person whose deep personal convictions, either religious or political, are opposed to taking human life."

"Other patriotic Americans are still in uniform and not bearing arms."

Members of Congress and spokesmen for other groups took up Weber's case Saturday when it became known he had been sentenced to death for violation of the 64th article of war, which deals with refusing to obey a superior officer.

"I'm willing to do anything I can to get the war over," Weber said after his court martial, "as long as I do not have to kill other people."

Leaders who came here to seek congressional support of the national campaign for immediate upward revision of the Little Steel Formula, were en route home today with assurances of sympathy with the objective from four Ohio representatives.

Nearly 100 CIO men and women met here yesterday with Reps. George H. Bender (R) of Cleveland, Walter Huber (D) of Akron, and Michael Feighan and Robert Crosser, both Cleveland Democrats. Rep. Frances Bolton, Cleveland Republican, was unable to attend.

Aubrey Williams and the chief spokesman for opposition to his appointment as Rural Electrification Administration chairman are set to appear before the Senate Agriculture committee.

Williams was summoned for further interrogation. Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) is to present the opposition case. McKellar's stand is based on his contention that Williams "has wasted enough government money" while deputy WPA administrator and head of the National Youth Administration.

"good deal of fighting" lies ahead.

On Luzon, American ground forces in 26 days have "cut up the Japanese with a swift efficiency which not even the official spokesmen of Japan can explain gracefully," Stimson told a news conference. However, there remains the job of liquidating the enemy in the "vast hopeless corners of isolation" on the island, he said.

Stimson sounded this note of caution about the results of air attacks on the Japanese war economy:

"Although we have been doing damage to war industry on the Japanese home islands, Japan's productiveness has not yet been fundamentally weakened. Undoubtedly, it has reserves of oil and other resources, and the military defenses of the homeland are intact."

Bombers and fighters sank four Japanese ships and damaged another four in air sweeps from the Bonin Islands to the Dutch Indies, and destroyed 28 barges on the east coast of Luzon where Nipponese forces in the Philippines are concentrated.

Superforts from Saipan harried Kobe in Japan before dawn for the third successive day. Yesterday India-based B-29s wrecked the 1,400-foot Rama VI bridge near Bangkok, vital link in Japan's supply line from Thailand to Burma.

In a unique mine-laying feat, Australian Catalina bombers recently bottled up a sizeable Japanese fleet in a Dutch Indies harbor, London announced. Four battleships, a carrier, six cruisers and many destroyers were penned in by the air-land mines.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said the Japanese have suffered 48,000 casualties in their defense of Luzon Island. American casualties were placed at 7,076, including 1,609 killed, 5,276 wounded and 191 missing.

Jungle-trained Yank rifle squads, unfamiliar with street fighting, combed the northern section of Manila for Japanese snipers. This area is officially "cleared."

Nipponese guns firing from south of the Pasig River endangered 3,700 released internees on Santo Tomas campus.

Dynamited bridges temporarily kept American infantrymen from crossing from the north while determined resistance from entrenched Japanese held up the 11th Airborne Division on the southern outskirts.

North of the smoking capital, the 28th Division was locked in the sixth day of a see-saw fight for Zagzag Pass on northern Bataan.

Three divisions—the 32nd, 6th, and 25th—carried the campaign slowly forward in the northeastern sector against the main concentration of Japanese on Luzon.

Rocket-firing Marine bombers, joining the 62nd daily attack on the Bonin and Volcano islands, attacked two convoys, leaving two ships in flames. Aleutian based Army bombers again raided Shu-mushu in the Kuriles.

Chungking announced defending troops had stemmed two Japanese drives originating in northern Kwangtung province in the South China interior but a third column was slowly advancing from Kanhhsien, fallen advanced U. S. airbase.

One Japanese force was engaged in heavy fighting six miles south of Takyu, important wolf-ram center in Kiangsi province. The Kanhhsien column was bearing down on Takyu from the north. Southeast of Takyu the third force was battling to recapture Yanfa after it had twice changed hands.

BIG THREE NOW MEETING AGREE ON KNOCKOUT PLAN TO BEAT GERMANY

was interpreted by officials here as showing a belief of the leaders that the defective control of Germany and the fair settlement of Europe's many centuries-old problems are equally important with international organization if peace is to be secured.

The listing of political and economic problems meant President Roosevelt had come to grips with some of the toughest issues growing out of the European war.

These are issues of Russian and British security, power of Communistic minorities in liberated countries, of Anglo-Soviet conflict in the eastern Mediterranean and of American hopes to see Atlantic Charter principles applied to freedom-starved peoples of the continent.

Diplomatic officials who have been watching political conflict develop in Europe as the war ends and who have seen this country's futile efforts to obtain settlements by statement, foresee a new period of more active diplomacy, aimed at eventual participation in world organization backed by force.

Speculation as to means of handling explosive situation has centered chiefly on machinery for bringing the leading Allied powers together in frequent or constant consultations. The following probabilities are foreseen in Washington:

1. A decision to follow up the period of military occupation of Germany already agreed upon with a prolonged period of joint civil control. Some policing by Allied armies would be continued to make sure Germany did not again build a great armament industry.

2. Expansion of the authority of the European Advisory Commission to deal with broader inter-Allied problems than the questions of German occupation plans.

3. Agreement on periodic conferences of Allied foreign ministers with the creation of a secretariat which might have the duty of anticipating difficulties among the Allies and forestalling them.

4. A system of advisory commissions functioning in liberated territories where the authority of a government is challenged until elections can be held.

5. Agreement on the need for alleviating human suffering throughout the liberated areas as rapidly as possible and agreement on industrial conditions of the countries so economies may function effectively.

A paragraph in the official announcement yesterday set the tone for future disclosures by the Big Three.

"Their purpose," it said, "is to concert plans for completing the defeat of the common enemy and for building, with their Allies, firm foundations for lasting peace." It was added that "a communique will be issued at the conclusion of the conference."

The Netherlands government has challenged the right of the major powers to judge all charges against smaller nations and has proposed stronger positions in the proposed World Security Council for the smaller countries, a reliable source said today.

This source said a 6,000-word document from the Dutch on the subject was on the conference table before President Roosevelt.

Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill. The document hinted the Netherlands might hesitate to join a world security organization as planned at Dumbarton Oaks if Soviet Russia's proposal to enforce unanimity of rule among the five permanent members of the Council was adopted, the source said.

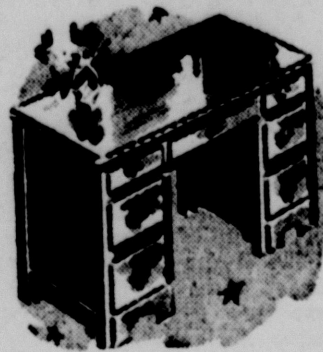

SIX EXPERTS KILLED
LONDON, Feb. 8.—(P)—Six members of the British Foreign Office were among 10 passengers killed when a plane carrying aides of Prime Minister Churchill crashed en route to the "Big Three" conference.

Five passengers were listed as missing and five others were injured. It was not revealed when the crash occurred.

Foreign Office personnel killed were: Peter Noel Loxley, Armine Roderick Dew and John Chaplin, all first secretaries; Robert MacDonald Guthrie, Detective Sergeant H. J. Battley, and Miss P. M. Sullivan, a typist.

War Office personnel killed were Lt. Col. Wm. Newey, Capt. A. K. Charlesworth and Air Ministry group, Captain P. S. Jackson-Taylor. Lt. Col. I. S. H. Hooper died later of injuries.

THE WAR TODAY

—By DEWITT MACKENZIE—

If General Eisenhower isn't on the verge of flinging a mighty offensive against the German Rhine defenses, he certainly is giving a most convincing imitation of a man with such intention.

The Hitlerite spokesmen say there's no doubt the storm about to break. The whole Allied front is throbbing with invasion. Allied fighting men stand on or inside the German front line, along a 160-mile line, from Roermond in the north to war-blasted Saarbrücken in the south.

On the northern flank the British Second Army and General Simpson's U. S. Ninth Army, having recently improved their positions, are poised for action. Below them General Hodges' U. S. First Army and General Patton's hell-raising Third are smashing into the German Siegfried defenses in what could be restricted operations but look like preliminaries to a big drive.

All this presents an intriguing military anomaly. It runs counter to what one would expect under normal conditions, because this is a bad time of year for a major assault.

Winter snows, floods and deep mud have turned the terrain into a nightmare. The flying weather is so vile most of the time that the all-important tactical forces of fighter-bombers are grounded day after day. In short, unless Eisenhower were impelled by some great emergency, one wouldn't expect him to undertake an all-out offensive before the good weather in the spring.

Looking across at the eastern front we see a similar phenomenon. There the Muscovites would, under normal circumstances, have paused when they reached the strong German defenses along the River Oder. The Red forces are entitled to a breather after their terrific pace across the snow-bound plains of Poland. Their greatly extended communications surely could do with an overhauling. Now would be a good time to consolidate their positions, and complete ironing out their northern and southern flanks.

But the Red armies are continuing their onslaught all along the line. Already they've established several bridgeheads across the Oder, and have created a special threat to Berlin in the heavily fortified Kuestrin-Frankfurt sector directly east of the capital. There's no sign that they figure on slackening in their fierce drive.

Thus we see both eastern and western Allies going against procedure in every-day warfare. They're doing it by agreement. Why?

The answer is that a crucial emergency has arisen. The Hitlerites are showing striking weakness in both theaters. The line of the Oder isn't holding the way we had been led to expect. In the west Nazi Marshal von Rundstedt's badly mauled forces have been so depleted by casualties in the battle of the Belgian Bulge that he's giving ground all along the Westwall.

From within the Reich come evidences of a great country in desperate circumstances which certainly presage collapse. The capital itself, freely admitting that it shortly will be in enemy hands, is in a state of shattered nerves. The government probably has fled south already. The city is a bomb-shattered grave-yard of Nazi hopes.

These signs of impending collapse have created an emergency which calls for exceptional treatment. Thus we find the Allies throwing every ounce of pressure possible against the enemy.

This may be the moment for the kill. In any event it's no time to slacken. So the drives go on, and if the Germans continue to show weakness the present Allied attacks will swell into the coup de grace.

Should this happen, we shall see Eisenhower's whole front flaring soon. This likely would bring the Allied air-borne army into sensational action—if the weather man would be a good sport for once.

threat bombardier-navigators was graduated today at the San Angelo Army Air Field, Texas, Col. G. M. Palmer, commanding officer, announced.

Among those graduating was Winfield L. McKinney, with the rank of Flight Officer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. McKinney, 322 South North Street, Washington C. H.

Thousands of fighting men have already received their training as bombardiers and dead-reckoning navigators at this Central Flying Training Command School, and are now assigned to every combat theater, dropping tons of bombs on enemy targets.

Accomplished aerial gunners, the bombardier-navigators are skilled in many team-positions of sky warfare and are now prepared for their final phase of training before taking their place as key men of the Army Air Forces.

Life in English Manor Enjoyed By WCH. Flier

Lt. Harold L. Robinson, son of Mrs. J. R. Robinson of 638 South Fayette Street, today has had a taste of the legendary English country life.

This story of his somewhat a romantic experience—one that is not uncommon, however, among Allied fliers—was told in a special communication from the Air Service Command headquarters public relations department of the United States Strategic Air Force in Europe to the Record-Herald.

Not long ago Lt. Robinson enjoyed a recess from aerial warfare at an Air Service Command Rest Home—a remodelled English manor house where America's airmen who provide aerial cover for the advancing allied armies in Germany may relax between missions.

Here Lt. Robinson put on sports clothes and lounged in the restful atmosphere of an old country home complete with butler, tea in bed and every type of recreational facility. He wrote his mother he had the best food he had ever had in his life. American atmosphere and all the touches of home are provided by the American Red Cross, co-partners with the Air Service Command in operation of the rest home. After seven days he went back to his combat station ready to play his part once again in the air battle supporting the Allied march across Germany.

Lt. Robinson has completed 22 missions over Nazi-dominated Europe. Before entering the army he was a student at Ohio State University. He has been in service since February, 1943 and has been overseas since August. His brother, Jack Robinson, is waiting to learn whether he can join the air corps also.

MILBURN HIMILLER FUNERAL SERVICES

Largely attended funeral services for Milburn Himiller were held Wednesday at 2 P. M. at the Klever Funeral Home, in charge of Rev. John K. Abernethy, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Abernethy read "The Old Rugged Cross" and a poem "What the Traveler Said at Sunset."

Burial was made in the family lot in the Good Hope Cemetery. There were many lovely floral remembrances.

The pallbearers were: Glenn B. Rodgers, Charles Barney, Ralph Braden, Earl McCoy, John Rowland and Heber McCoy.

Among those attending the services from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hegler, and daughter, Barbara Jane; Mrs. Mary Janet Ditter and Miss Hegler, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carey, Mrs. Harriett Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Curtis and Mrs. Bernice Dunlap, New Vienna and Mrs. Dorothy Boggs, St. Marys.

$28,500 DRIVE FOR RED CROSS OPENS MARCH 11

Committee Meet Wednesday Maps Out Campaign in Detail

A kick-off meeting March 11 in the high school auditorium will begin the 10-day $28,500 Red Cross War Fund campaign here. It was disclosed at an organizational meeting of the central committee in the probate judge's office Wednesday night.

Selecting as a Fayette County slogan "Have A Red Cross in Every Window," the committee, headed by George Pensyl as campaign chairman, scheduled almost every move during the concentrated drive.

The first report meeting will be March 15—the Thursday after the kick-off meeting. March 19 on Monday and March 21, the following Thursday, are set aside for successive reports, Pensyl said.

Theater collections—in charge of Miss Marjorie Evans—will run from March 15 through March 21. Special gifts and industrial collections will begin March 2, however. On the same day, a meeting of all chairman, including ward and township heads, is slated to learn whether or not the 300 workers which will be needed are lined up.

Percie Kennell will be chairman of the townships. He will in addition solicit Union Township while W. W. Montgomery, Ralph Nisley and Loren Hynes will divide the nine other townships between them. Ward chairmen have not yet been named but Pensyl indicated they would be selected next week. Another committeeman added Wednesday was Frank Ellis who will serve on the publicity committee.

A community sing probably will be part of the kick-off meeting March 11. Pensyl has received a telegram from the Red Cross saying a good speaker with overseas experience will be sent here for the opening meeting.

While the drive is more than a month away from its beginning, Pensyl said the response and cooperation received by the committee has been "most encouraging."

MacArthur's Pledge

Fulfillment of Gen. MacArthur's pledge to return to Manila was surrounded by circumstances as dramatic as any in American history, or even in world history.

Not so long ago he and his men were fighting literally with their backs to the South Pole, expecting a Japanese invasion of the Australian continent. Japan ruled the air, the sea and most of the land.

Yet today we have returned, led by Gen. Wainwright's own First Cavalry and Ohio's own 37th Infantry, which has been in the vanguard throughout the steady march back.

Perhaps even more gratifying to our soldiers and to newspaper readers alike is the rescue of thousands of internees who must have abandoned hope time after time of ever seeing an American flag again.

Perhaps that hope recurred only after ever-lengthening intervals, but Americans could never lose faith completely in their fellow countrymen. That faith has been justified. America has begun to take care of her own.

When MacArthur has fulfilled his new goal of "On to Tokyo" America will have kept faith with those others who still hope against hope for our return.

If Americans can keep as united in their struggles for perpetual peace, there can be no doubt of our ability to keep faith also with our children and our children's children. The Pacific world, at least, knows and respects our ability to attain any goal we set for ourselves. This prestige can be extended through the Atlantic world by a similar singleness of purpose.

Horrors of War

The two women at the lunch table were tastefully dressed. Both had a consciously groomed, late-thirty appearance. The one doing all the talking had a ruddy tan that drew attention in the winter atmosphere of the restaurant.

"Miami is simply dismal this year," she informed her companion. "Hardly a soul is there. No one we knew. Just the natives and soldiers—and most of them wounded. It's terrible. I stayed only ten days. I couldn't stand it. It was too discouraging. Then, of course, the government had to go and close all the race tracks. That was the end. They might as well have expelled Florida from the Union."

"I wish the war were over. I hate it. All this rationing, and travel restrictions, and restaurants so crowded, and it's getting just awful to get a taxi. My husband says that with taxes the way they are he might as well sell the firm and quit working, even with business so good. There really isn't any profit in it."

"But did I tell you about coming home on the train? My dear, that was the last straw, really. In the first place I had a terrible time getting reservations. I even phoned my husband and he couldn't do anything from up here. Finally, one of the hotel clerks arranged it for me."

"Well, it's certainly a relief to be home again. But with all these terrible black market operators and everything, it's getting to be a frightful problem to get enough to eat. Why, just last night my husband and I drove to the city for dinner and we had to pay $4 for a steak. Isn't that outrageous? I think the government should do something about it—the taxes we're paying—what are they doing with all that money? It couldn't all be going for the war.

"I certainly do wish the war would end. I wish I could get away for a while. The rest would do me good. They say Mexico is a fascinating place. I've always wanted to go there. I think I'll talk to my husband about it tonight."

Fortunately a majority of our people are not like this but there are still too many who have no responsibility beyond their own pleasures.

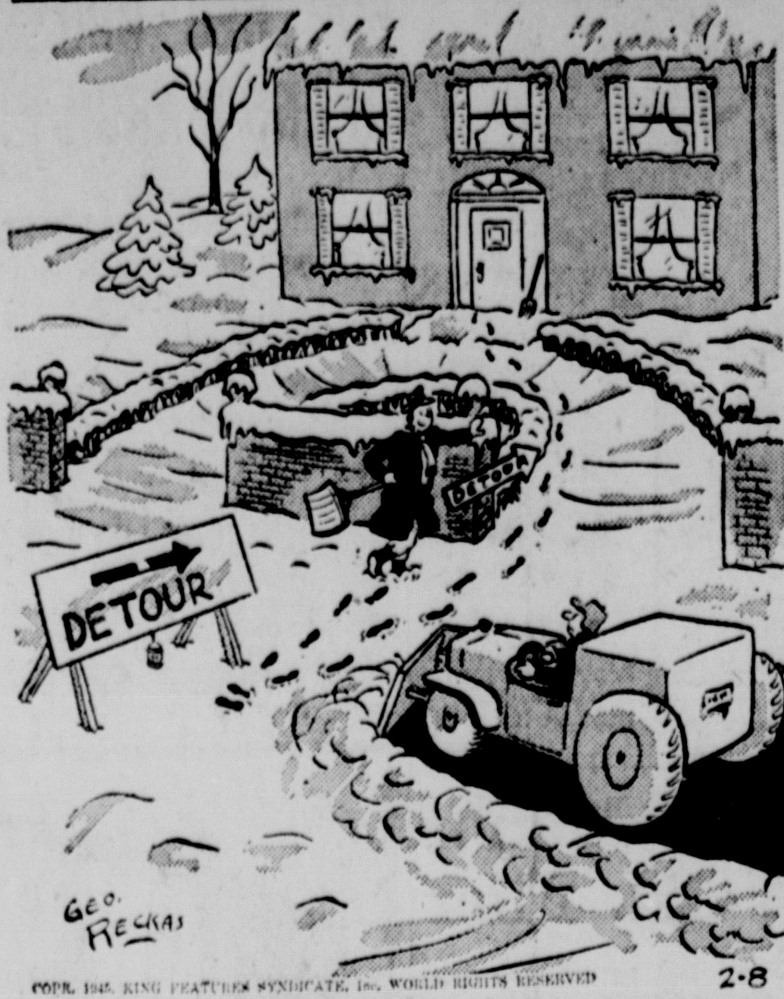

Lest We Forget

Here is something to remember as the Japanese war proceeds, and when the time comes to judge our Japanese enemies and assess their war penalties. A recent Associated Press dispatch from Luzon contained this mournful paragraph telling of what the Japanese in Luzon had done to American war prisoners.

"There were men prematurely old, with gray hair, sunken eyes; men who limped from beri-beri; men whose bodies were scored by tropical ulcers and other diseases brought on by the lack of proper food during nearly three years of living death; men who looked helplessly up from litters and a few who were young-looking, clean shaven and still alert. And there were two who died just as the deliverance came—their hearts gave out on the first 10 miles of their dash to safety."

All these men had been strong, valiant and decent, fighting in defense of their country, but fighting according to the rules of civilized warfare which the Japanese had accepted—and broken. It must all be remembered when the time comes to judge Japanese criminals.

LAFF-A-DAY

Diet and Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

President, Chicago Board of Health
There are many known causes of headache and there are some headaches for which we do not know the cause. One of the known causes is increased pressure within the brain. This is brought about by swelling of the brain tissue due to a collection of fluid and is known as cerebral edema. The edema may develop because of disturbances in the circulation of blood.

TREATMENT OF HEADACHE

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

(Dr. Bundesen will answer letters containing medical questions only through his column.)

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

In treating headache caused by cerebral edema, certain salt solutions have been used, such as ammonium chloride. This solution has also been employed to get rid of the symptoms of restlessness and headache which often are present in women before their regular periods.

Doctor Carl Pfeiffer of Wayne University, and his co-workers of the University of Chicago have tried such salt solutions in the treatment of migraine headache. In migraine there is severe headache with sickness to the stomach and vomiting, sometimes dizziness, and disturbances of the vision.

When salt solutions are given, they tend to increase the volume of blood since more fluids will enter the blood when more of the various salts are present. This increase in blood volume helps to get rid of the edema of the brain through speeding up the circulation. Salt solutions in addition will cause an increased activity of the kidneys.

Doctor Pfeiffer and his co-workers, consequently, searched for a mixture of salts which would increase the blood volume without increasing kidney action, and finally found that a mixture of calcium lactate and potassium chloride was suitable. They tried out their treatment on about 150 patients. They started with a large dose of the mixture and then, when symptoms were relieved, the dose was increased. If the patients continued with the large doses over a period of several months, the symptoms tended to recur.

Doctor Pfeiffer and his co-workers also noted that if treatment was stopped altogether, the headaches came back, but again were relieved when the salt solution mixture was used for them. It is also interesting to note that if the headaches were limited to the left side, relief was obtained more frequently than when the headaches were on the right side. The salts were given in capsules and only rarely did they upset the stomach. Some patients reported that they felt better in general and that their minds were more active. If too many of the capsules were taken, dull headaches were likely to develop.

It is suggested, in carrying out the treatment with the salt mixture, that the mixture be given at the first sign of a headache. One of the advantages of this treatment is that pain-relieving drugs, such as aspirin, can be used at the same time as the salt mixture is employed.

In a later series of patients, niacin was added to the salt mixture and the results were even better than with the salt alone.

It would appear that further studies of the use of salt mixtures in the treatment of migraine will determine the exact benefits which are to be obtained from its use, and that truly would be good news to the millions of sufferers of migraine headache.

Tomorrow, Dr. Bundesen will discuss "Hypoglycemia."

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

Danielle said, "I feel—better than I have—ever since it happened. Do you mind my—chucking the whole business on you?"

Aggie grinned. "Yeah. It's quite a load."

She sighed. "You're a very funny man. You look like a cartoon professor. In the club—you're about as comfortable as a rabbit in a lion's cave. And yet—the things you know! The things you do!"

"Nonsense. Sifting dust in ruined cities. Measuring the heads of native rug weavers."

"Nonsense, yourself! I had Dad borrow a couple of your books from Sarah. You've got more nerve than Tarzan—and a vocabulary that makes a sap out of Webster's dictionary. Come on. Take me to dinner. I'll make people talk. Whoever I dine with—it makes people talk. You'll blush—and that's ridiculous—for a man that attacked a gorilla with a garden fork."

Aggie blushed as they started into the club.

Danielle took his arm. "I wish things weren't like this," she said. "I wish I'd met you long ago—and some other way." She laughed. "Or married you when I was six. Like I dine with—in India you wrote about. You'd make such an interesting husband. So nice to go on trips with. There's Beth! Are you as keen about her as the rumors say? She's extremely beautiful—and I suppose—having spent so much time in the tropics—you prefer brunettes."

She looked at him wickedly and his blush deepened. But the glimmer in her eyes faded back to anxiety. "I'm incorrigible," she said.

Aggie walked back to Rainbow Lodge in the early part of the evening. He had left Danielle at the club—with Ralph Patton and Beth and Bill Calder. Left her sitting with them, talking, killing time, listening to the radio. It seemed to Aggie that, having told all she knew, she had completely relaxed. The burden was now on her shoulders. He had no idea what to do about it. If Sarah were only a little less silent and truculent—more confident—he would tell her. He decided, as he walked, that he would tell Sarah part of it, anyway. He needed help.

She was in bed. Around her were unopened books, unplayed games, unread magazines. She looked at her nephew with disturbed eyes and said, "If you want to learn patience and humility, try the mumps! What's afoot?"

"Well—for one thing—they haven't found Bogarty's body."

"I know it! We were here—making a sick call—and prying harder than a burglar's jimmy on the subject of Hank."

"I was wondering," Aggie said. "If you happen to have any old fox traps lying about?"

Sarah squinted at him. "Thousands. Help yourself. We told me about the fox. What good will it do you to catch it?"

He shrugged. "I just have a hunch I'd like to—that's all. Like to see that collar. Like to check the teeth with pictures of the bite on Calder's hand. I'm not kidding."

"Well—if you really want to—I'll have Winkle get you some, in the morning. I doubt if it will help you find out who killed Jim."

"Oh, I know that. What I want to find out is—where's Hank?"

Sarah was staring at glassily as he had expected. "You know?"

He was almost supercilious. "Oh, yes. George Davis."

"Don't be an idiot!"

"He had reasons for doing it of which we are all aware. He's strong enough and decisive enough. His alibi for that night is rotten. Circumstantial evidence shows he was probably on the scene of the crime shortly after diagnosing you—removing traces of his original presence. A brilliant analytical mind—broken down after years of morbid and vengeful brooding. Oh, yes. George is out. Man. Question it—shall I turn him in? Danielle put it up to me."

"Danielle! What's she got to do with it?"

"Oh—she did the redhanded catching."

"You're not serious, Aggie!"

"Perfectly."

His aunt was silent for an unconscionably long time. "George didn't do it," she said finally. "I've known him like the palm of my hand—ever since he cracked his first speller. At least—if he did do it—he's a gone crazy."

"People do," said Aggie.

"I'd suspect Danielle herself—before I'd dream of George! I'd suspect Byron Waite. Or that strong, silent young Patton boy. Greed, there, Beth—who hated her father. Old John, here, Bill—or Martha—or Jack Browne even. Or myself. George is as relentless as rock! His sense of values wouldn't permit him to waste time thinking about murder. As a surgeon, he's seen too much of life and death to be interested in it in any but an intellectual way. Rubbish, Aggie! George never did it!"

"I wanted your reaction," he grinned. "And—boy—I did it get it!"

Sarah grinned. "Nevertheless, I'm going to phone Wes and tell him to come over right away. And you're going to hear a set of circumstances that will probably result in the immediate arrest of your physician."

Sarah sagged. She seemed, suddenly, old and scared and uncertain. "I—?" She shook her head. "Never mind. Go ahead. Maybe you're right. Maybe I'm an old fool. Maybe the confidence I have in my knowledge of people is wholly misplaced! Wholly. All my life, I've been a Miss Fixit. I haven't hesitated to use any stratagem I could think of to make people do what I believed was good for them. Usually—I've been right. But I could be wrong—fundamentally."

"There's something," Aggie said, "about not being your brother's keeper, in the Bible. A good program. I'm going to phone."

He did so. Wes Wickman, however, was not at Headquarters. He was not expected until morning. The sergeant offered to send up another man. Aggie decided to wait until morning. It was a terrible decision—not from Aggie's viewpoint but from the viewpoint of chance. He went to bed awhile later and fell into a troubled sleep. A creaking of the stairs woke him up.

Sarah pushed open his door as the lights clicked on. She was wearing a heavy wrapper—a velvet one. Upon her form it looked like a fur coat. A towel, under which an ice bag audibly squirmed, encircled her neck. There was red on her cheeks—high and spotty—like bad makeup.

"You're worse!" Aggie exclaimed. "I'll get Davis!"

She shook her head and sat down in the largest chair in her room. She thrust out her feet, which were encased in lambskin boots. "Get me a stool. I want to talk."

Aggie shoved his arms into the sleeves of his dressing gown. There was no stool in his room. He made one, of a box and a pillow. He arranged his aunt's feet, and stripped a blanket from his bed to tuck around her. Then he switched on a bridge lamp and sat down, facing her. He smiled, and she smiled back at him.

"Shoot," he said.

Her first words were an apology to herself rather than a prelude to a definite subject. "I can't ask you not to repeat what I'm going to tell you, Aggie, because it isn't that kind of information—and this is not a time when innocent people can be required to keep secrets. I must not say what I'm going to—and yet I've got to. I decided, only now. I'm old and I'm ill and I'm not as astute as I used to be. I determined that you would have to judge about things just as Danielle evidently has done." She smiled again. "It's funny. Nobody has done my thinking or my judging—ever."

Aggie reflected her expression and waited.

"It's about Hank Bogarty. Since he hasn't turned up, I'm going to tell you. Davis threatened me, if I talked. I had a long note from Waite yesterday in the same vein—and another today. I—personally—haven't anything much to lose. They have. Which is the reason I've kept my mouth shut."

He Makes Good Living - - - and It's for You

By ARLENE WOLF

NEW YORK — John Powell raises flies. He also raises cockroaches, and sometimes throws in a milkweed beetle or two just to keep the score even. Eighteen years ago he caught the first couple hundred of his assortment at a New York fish market, and they've been thriving ever since—except when he kills part of them off, which is every day of the week.

This crawling enterprise isn't as fly-by-night as it sounds. Powell is the head of an organization which manufactures raw materials for insecticides. In order to test the lethal ability of his products, Powell bumps off about 15,000 flies a day.

Five hundred at a time—all exactly five days old—are put into a 6x6x6 foot death chamber. The fly-killer being tested is squirted in through a spray that looks like the one the dentist uses when he's cleaning out a filling.

After the ten minute test, most of the flies are knocked out. Then the substance is blown out of the chamber, the insects are gathered up with a kind of hand vacuum cleaner and deposited in a screened box. There they are given a chance to fight for their lives, provided with sugar water for food and plenty of light and air. Twenty-four hours later, a census is taken, the corpses are gathered up and cremated in the laboratory oven.

under ideal conditions has produced a physical 400 of the fly world, unusually husky and sturdy, Powell explains. But they're no smarter than your very own run-of-the-air houseflies. When Powell wants to catch a few that got away from their cells, he doesn't resort to any ruses. He just uses flypaper.

PAN AMERICAN HIGHWAY NEEDS LOTS OF BRIDGES

WASHINGTON — (P) — Several hundred new and replacement bridges must still be built along the 3,356-mile-long Inter-American Highway between the Texas border and the Panama Canal, according to the U. S. Public Roads Administration.

About three-fourths of the highway, which runs through Mexico, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Panama, is now open. It is expected to be finished in 1947.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINETT

WASHINGTON — There is now and will be for some time unrest, stark hunger, confusion and brutal banditry among the 18,000,000 inhabitants of the Philippines.

For two and a half years the Filipinos have been under the thumb of Japan. They have been subjected to propaganda. Some of their leaders have gone over to the other side. There must have been times when they felt that they had been deserted by the United States.

In view of this, the little publicized words of Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo about what the Filipinos think of Gen. Douglas MacArthur are enlightening. Romulo knows MacArthur almost as well as he knows his own people. He was with him on Bataan and Corregidor. He went back with him to Leyte. Soldier, statesman, newspaper man, Romulo now is resident commissioner of Philippines here. As such he is the spokesman for his people in the House of Representatives. Thus, he was not speaking for himself alone the other day when, on the occasion of Gen. MacArthur's 65th birthday, he said: "Today, Gen. MacArthur is back on Luzon. From Manila and back to Manila again, that was his pledge of faith to 18,000,000 Filipinos and he is keeping that rendezvous."

"Whatever the rest of the world may have thought when Douglas MacArthur made the promise, 'I will return,' in Filipino minds there was no misunderstanding. They knew he would be back."

It isn't easy for us here to understand how the Filipinos feel about MacArthur. For 45 years, since his father was military governor of the Philippines and granted the people the right to habeas corpus while martial law still was in force in the islands, the name of MacArthur has been there a symbol of sympathy and freedom.

After Douglas MacArthur had won his medals in World War I and risen to that military peak of chief of staff of the United States Army, he went back to the Philippines to do the thankless and often ridiculed job of organizing a Philippine army.

Romulo says: "He had to meet with scoffers who spoke of the Philippine army as MacArthur's Boy Scouts, and who laughed at the idea that America might some day need a base in the Pacific."

That is part of the reason, says Romulo, why the Filipinos felt that MacArthur's promise wouldn't be broken. That is why, he says, when MacArthur landed on Leyte and said simply "I have returned," the words reached all over the Philippines. That is why, as nowhere else in the Pacific or the Orient, the Allied armies have found the guerrillas ready and waiting to join forces in wiping out the invaders.

"What can we say of MacArthur?" asks commissioner Romulo. "We can sum it up in simple terms. To us in the Philippines, he is you. He is America."

Mrs. C. D. Young Is Hostess to Women's Guild

The Women's Guild of the Presbyterian Church was indebted to Mrs. C. D. Young for an especially delightful afternoon Wednesday when they met at her home at two o'clock.

The attractive home was a perfect setting for the busy afternoon of sewing which occupied the time of the thirty-five members present. Seated around a cheery open fire, congenial and informal visiting was enjoyed, as the work of piecing comfort squares progressed during the early part of the afternoon.

Mrs. Herbert Clickner, the president, called the meeting to order and presented Mrs. M. J. Whitfield as the devotional and program leader. She gave a scripture reading and followed with an article captioned "The Life Worth Living," by Henry Van Dyke. Mrs. Whitfield also read Emerson's lovely poem, "Father, We Thank Thee," closing with the Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison. A regular routine business session followed.

During the social hour, delicious cake and coffee were served by the hostess and her group of assistant hostesses for the afternoon which included: Mrs. C. R. Philhower, Mrs. John Browning, Mrs. W. L. Bryan, Mrs. Charles Sever, Mrs. C. H. Thoroman, Mrs. Trox Farrell, Mrs. J. E. Orr, Mrs. Regina Stausbus, Miss Marie Hughes, Mrs. Carl Mallow, Mrs. George Gosard, Mrs. Frank White, Mrs. Frank White, Mrs. Frank Mayer, Mrs. W. M. Barger, Mrs. Hazel Devins, Mrs. Eugene Smith, Mrs. George Worrell and Mrs. J. C. Hughes.

WSCS Meeting Held Wednesday Is Enjoyable

The Jeffersonville WSCS met at the Methodist Church Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock for their regular meeting, with the new president, Mrs. Eva Owens, presiding.

Mrs. Wayne Vannorsdall played a favorite hymn "Nearer My God To Thee," which was followed by a prayer led by Mrs. Owens. Devotionals were read and a reading of the minutes and the treasurer's reports were given and approved.

Mrs. Max Thomas was presented by the president as program leader for the afternoon and chose as her topic, "The American Indian." She gave a very accurate portrayal of the life of the Indians from the time the white race drove them from their home until the present time. The talk was both educational and instructive and Mrs. Thomas asked Mrs. Max Morrow to contribute the lovely vocal solo, "The Indian Love Call," with Mrs. Vannorsdall accompanying on the piano.

At the close of the program the guests were invited to the dining room where lovely light refreshments were served, carrying out pretty Valentine suggestions, and an enjoyable social hour closed the delightful afternoon's meeting.

Girl Reserve Club To Observe Week February 21-28

On Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, members of the Girl Reserve Club of the Washington C. H. High School met at the Little Theater for a meeting with Jane Riber, president, in charge.

Carolyn Knapp had devotionals for the session, after which plans to observe Girl Reserve Week February 21 through February 28, all Girl Reserve Clubs of Ohio and western Pennsylvania to observe that time. During that week, the Senior and Junior Clubs of Washington High School will sponsor an assembly for the entire student body of the high school.

They also plan to attend church services as a group on February 25.

The program that followed the business meeting consisted of stunts presented by groups of members under the leadership of Lora Lee Enslin, Helen Rhoades and Sally Streater. After the stunts, the meeting was adjourned.

Alpha Circle Met At Van Voorhis Home Wednesday

One of the most pleasant meetings of the Alpha Circle took place at the home of Mrs. Paul Van Voorhis Wednesday evening, with Mrs. Arch Newbrey, the assisting hostess.

Seventeen members replied to the roll call by answering the interesting question, "Did you, as a child, have a regular allowance?" The president, Mrs. Frank Brown, conducted a brief business meeting during which it was decided that the benefit party which was to have been given last night by the club at the Dayton Power and Light Co. clubrooms, would definitely be given in the near future.

All during the evening the ladies were busy sewing on kit bags for the Red Cross while congenial visiting shortened the pleasant hours.

A tempting seasonal course was served, using the popular Valentine motif, and bringing the delightful evening to a close.

The next meeting of the Circle will be at the home of Mrs. Robert McDonald on February 21.

Two Tables of Bridge Held At Hill Home

Red place mats trimmed with white lace paper ruffles marked the cover for each guest when Mrs. F. E. Hill served an appetizing dessert collation to members of her two table bridge club, Wednesday evening. White tapers in crystal candelabras burned softly during the informal hour, one of many delightful pleasures.

When the scores were tallied at the conclusion of an evening of particularly keen bridge competition, prizes were presented to Mrs. Clark Pensyl, Mrs. Hugh Perrill and Mrs. Wilbur Gillespie.

Past Councillors D. of A. Enjoy Potluck Supper

Eighteen of the Past Councillors of the Daughters of America met at the home of Mrs. George Boggess Tuesday evening at six-thirty for an enjoyable pot-luck supper.

Following the supper, which was served cafeteria style, the meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Elza Sanderson. It was decided that a rummage sale would be held in the near future. Mrs. Dorothy Dellinger favored the group with an interesting reading which was greatly enjoyed.

The assisting hostesses were Mrs. Inez Boswell, Mrs. Anna Speakman and Mrs. Blanche Rodgers.

The officers of the Nora Dye Council, D. of A., for this year are: Councillor, Mrs. Mable Whitmer; associate councillor, Mrs. Hattie Sward; vice-councillor, Mrs. Rena Boggess; associate vice councillor, Mrs. Nancy Hyer; conductress, Mrs. Jessie Curl; warden, Mrs. Garnet Pollard; inside sentinel, Mrs. Ruth Coe; outside sentinel, Mrs. Mary Alice Graves; recording secretary, Mrs. Zella Sanderson; financial secretary, Miss Nancy Williams; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Groover; trustees, Mrs. Maggie Masters, Mrs. Louella Butcher and Mrs. Florence Morris; flag bearers, Mrs. Ruby Myers, and Mrs. Elizabeth Groover; deputy, Mrs. Florence Moore; team captain, Mrs. Mable Whitmer.

BOY SCOUT WEEK COURT OF HONOR SLATED SUNDAY

Scouts and Cubs Are Asked To Attend Service at Presbyterian Church

Boy Scout week begins officially Sunday around Sunday School time when all Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts are asked to attend the Sunday School of their choice and be present for a special Boy Scout service at the First Presbyterian Church at the regular worship service.

X. L. Garrison, Boy Scout field executive here, said Rev. John K. Abernethy, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, had prepared a special sermon. Rev. Abernethy is himself a scoutmaster, shepherding the Rotary Club Troop 64.

At 3 P. M. Sunday a court of honor will be held at the North Street Church of Christ. Charles Reinke, advancement chairman, will be in charge of the program which will begin with an invocation by Rev. R. Byron Carver, pastor of the church.

Troop 112, newly organized group sponsored by the North Street Church of Christ, will give a pledge to the flag after which A. E. Weatherly will make second class awards; Earl Henderson, first class; Walter Rettig, merit badge and Robert Terhune, star awards.

After the awards are presented to the Scouts who earned them, Jeffersonville Troop 67 will demonstrate fire making with flint and steel and with friction; Troop 170, police, fire department and American Legion-sponsored, will demonstrate first aid; Troop 67 will exhibit knot tying and Troop 64 demonstrate field expedients. Rev. Carver will close the court of honor with a benediction.

The fuel crisis may eliminate any other night activities of the Scouts during the week, but at the same time Cubs and Scouts are asked to wear their uniforms everywhere, Garrison said. Displays also are to be put in downtown store windows. A special Boy Scout program is scheduled on WLW at 10:30 A. M. Saturday, Garrison said.

CENTRAL P-TA SPONSORS SHOW FOR EQUIPMENT

Magician, Anchor-Hocking Men's Chorus To Come Here February 20

Central School pupils will have some new playground equipment if the P-TA has its way about it.

A show with a magician for the children and some good choral music for the grown-ups is in store February 20, it is announced today.

Llewellyn the Magician, of Lancaster, will be at the high school auditorium at 8:15 P. M., February 20—that's a week from Tuesday—to pull rabbits out of hats and perform other feats of magic which will open wide the eyes of his youthful audience and provide plenty of entertainment for the adults also.

The Anchor-Hocking men's chorus and quartet are slated to sing. The chorus of 35 men's voices is termed one of the best in this area and while the program has not been announced yet, Mrs. Andy Gidding, chairman of the committee for the show, said it would be a varied one.

Admission will be 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Ticket sales will begin soon, Mrs. Gidding said.

Just what equipment will be purchased is not definitely decided. Probably it will depend on the equipment available for purchasing. At any rate, the Central P-TA is determined to buy all it can.

LABOR RELATION TO BE TOPIC AT FOREMEN'S CLUB

L. W. Lohrey of Dayton Will Speak at Wednesday Meeting Here

Highlighting the Wednesday Foremen's Club meeting at the American Legion Hall is L. W. Lohrey, manager of personnel for the Delco Products Division of General Motors at Dayton, who will speak on "The Value of Sound Labor Relations."

Lohrey, for 20 years personnel head at Delco, also has been active in the safety council, chamber of commerce, advisory board of the vocational high school and other civic organizations in Dayton. He also is a member of the Foremen's Club of Dayton and has served on its board of control.

Howard C. Newman, president of the club here, said "Lohrey's subject is timely in that sound labor relations is one of the main prerequisites of good supervision and is applicable to all phases of supervision, whether it be a war industry, a grocery store or a department store."

Dinner will be served at 6:45 P. M. fast time and the meeting is to begin at 7:45 P. M. fast time. Two movies will further emphasize labor relations—"Super-Vising Workers on the Job" and "Introducing the New Worker to His Job."

In response to request, four War Department movies also will be shown, "How Good is a Gun," "Highballing To Victory," "Back Door to Japan" and "Battle Wreckage." George Hall will run the projector and the movies also will be made available to Boy Scout troops and the Ohio Bell Telephone Company.

FOLKS AT HOME ARE LUCKY, SAYS PVT. CHAS. ROLL

Former Cudahy Packing Co. Employee Regrets He Did Not Get in Fight Sooner

"You folks back home don't realize how fortunate you are," Pvt. Charles L. Roll wrote in a letter to Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Glover of Route 1, Fayette County, from "somewhere in France," and suggested that they "just be thankful that the fighting never reached the good old U. S. A. If they could see what I have seen, they would not do much complaining about conditions there."

At the time he was writing—January 17—the German horde had launched a counter-attack that was smashing through villages and farms in Belgium and Luxembourg that already had been ravaged by war while streams of pitiful refugees, who had lost everything, including their homes, either streamed back into France, gaunt with hunger and ragged with poverty, ahead of the fighting or crouched in the cellars of shattered buildings to take their chances with death and mutilation.

Although Pvt. Roll did not say where he was, where he had been or with what outfit he served, it was apparent from the tone of his letter that he had just come out of the front line of battle, for he wrote, "this is the first chance I have had to mail a letter." He noted, "it's plenty cold here and we have lots of snow," possibly to give Mr. and Mrs. Glover some clue to the sector on which he was fighting.

Pvt. Roll was in a fighting mood when he wrote that letter. Like so many American boys and with the spirit that makes them the toughest soldiers in the world, he not only was thoroughly aroused by the death and destruction brought on by Axis aggression but anxious to get on with a nasty job and finish it up. "My regret is," he wrote, "that I didn't get into this sooner."

Just back from the front where life was very cheap, he wrote, "the best of luck to you" and closed with a plea to "write often and I'll write when I can. Letters from home sure look good over here."

Pvt. Roll has many friends in Washington C. H. where he was employed at the Cudahy Packing Co. plant before he went into the service.

Lions To Play Circleville Here Friday

Although Circleville's Tigers handed the Blue Lion cagers a decisive 59 to 40 beating at Circleville when they first met on December 19, hopes for revenge when the two teams clash on the high school floor here Friday night in the return game were approaching full bloom among the WHS followers.

The feeling nearest to optimism since right after the Lions beat Hillsboro's Indians December 8 in the first SCO League game of the season was based on two recent developments—(1) an improvement in the Lion play during the stepped up practice sessions and (2) the loss of two of the main cogs of the Circleville team.

Coach J. R. Brammer, who has said time and again since the start of the season that "if the boys could just play as well in a game as they do in practice, they would be hard to beat," declared the Lions have looked better than ever in practice this week. The drills have been doubled since the Lions were trounced, 36 to 24, last Friday night. Sessions have been held in the afternoon after school and again at night after supper. Since the boys showed no signs of weakening or tiring, Coach Brammer is inclined to think that the 10 P. M. curfew he imposed is benefiting his charges physically.

They got a brief respite Wednesday, however, when they yielded the floor to the County All-Stars who are preparing for a game with the Lions the night of Feb. 17.

Although the Lions made about half of their free throws against Chillicothe, Coach Brammer has kept them toying the foul line for more practice. Set shots also have been emphasized.

While there is no disposition to glory in the misfortune of the Tigers, the fact that Sims and Anderson who were a thorn in the side of the Lions—and other Circleville opponents as well—will not be on the floor for the game here is not being overlooked by WHS partisans. Both boys, considered among the top-notchers of the Tiger squad, have gone into the army to play for Uncle Sam in a much more serious game. Little is known about their replacements, but the consensus is that their shoes would be hard to fill and that the Tigers will miss them.

The Lions Reserves, who have won half of their games against three out of ten for the varsity, also have been hard at it this week. The 26 to 17 beating they handed the Chillicothe Reserves last Friday not only brought praise down on them in sizeable portions but also served as something of a stimulant. Their coach, James Kyler, said as they get ready for the Tiger Reserves Friday night, that "they are improving rapidly."

Rockets Lose Close Game At Sabina

Another set-back was handed the Blue Rockets Wednesday night at Sabina when the Allen Pharmacy cagers from Chillicothe took their measure, 49 to 44, in a slam-bang preliminary to the Sabina-740 AC main go of the evening's double feature basketball program. The Columbus outfit, which trounced the Rockets in their last home game a week ago, beat the Sabina boys, 49 to 35.

The games were staged by the Sabina Lions Club to raise money for its charity fund. So great was the turnout that even after the many others had to be turned away. Figures on the game are not yet available, but a sizeable piece of change was believed to have been netted.

It was the failure of the Rockets to make good their free throws that contributed most to their downfall. Both teams tallied 13 baskets from the field.

Guards stuck to Virgil Bentley, the Rockets' scoring ace, like a leech, but he managed to connect for seven and a total of 18 points. Guilek, however, set the pace for the Rocket offense. By spectacular follow-ups, he pushed in nine two-pointers, most of them from the back board.

For the Chillicothe team, it was Stout and Allen who gave the Rockets the most worry.

Second armies along the river. Capture of all of the dams might be the signal for the new drive.

In the east Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army, broadening the base of an assault front for a large-scale attack on the Reich capital, has occupied long stretches of the Oder River's east bank, a Moscow dispatch said today, and both Nazi and Russian reports indicated the climactic battle of Berlin was under way.

The Germans said Soviet troops had established new bridgeheads across the Oder in the Kuestrin-Frankfurt area, where the battle cost the Nazis, by Russian account, 5,000 killed in one day. The Kuestrin-Berlin railroad was under shellfire, Berlin said, and a British radio report said the Red Army had fought to the outskirts of Frankfurt, guarding a main road to the capital.

The Soviet communiqué said bitter fighting raged "in the fortified forefield of Berlin."

—Spying— On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP)—If the National Football League wants to get rid of a few weak clubs, Chick Meehan would be glad to have them. Apparently shut out of Yankee Stadium with his Trans-America League, Chick has been looking for new fields and listening to two questions: (1) That there is room for another major grid league and (2) that the 11-club National League is unwieldy. A solution would be for the National to whittle itself down to eight clubs and give the overflow to Meehan to combine with his best five. "That would virtually shut out other rivals, enable each circuit to play a home-and-home schedule with a real 'World Series' at the end and make for more profitable exhibitions. 'If the National League wants to appoint a committee to stabilize pro football, I'll talk it over and take any of the clubs they name," says Chick. "But that solution is just too sensible to be considered."

TAFT FAVORS UPPING LITTLE STEEL WAGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) assured CIO members from southern Ohio today that he favors study of the Little Steel wage formula with a view to upward adjustments.

The Senator told the union people from Cincinnati, Dayton and other cities that he never had considered the formula a successful approach to establishment of wage levels.

He added that he thought there should be a new formula to follow more closely the cost of living which the CIO contends has increased 45 per cent since Little Steel's 15 per cent wage hike was permitted in January, 1941.

FUTURE OF FOX HUNTS IS UP TO LEGISLATURE

The future of fox chases or hunts here today rests with a subcommittee of the Ohio House of Representatives' Conservation committee.

The committee will decide whether to amend or draw up a substitute for a proposed bill which prescribes a year-round open season on fox and provides a $4 bounty.

Sportsmen feel that as the measure stands now it would mean the end of fox hunting in the state. However, a group of northeastern Ohio farmers yesterday supported

Tighter Grip On Lead Held By Gremlins

The top-flight Gremlins made their lead in the API Women's League just a little more secure Wednesday night when they scored two wins over the Owls. The Gremlins took the first two games but stepped aside in the last contest for the Owls.

The Bombers, in second place, dropped the end games to the Hellcats. Only the middle game went the Bombers' way—a score that put them into a tie for second place with the Gliders.

Another two out of three wins was scored when the Gliders downed the Flying Fortresses. The Forts won the middle game.

The P-38 Aeronaut match scheduled Wednesday was not held.

Attention Farmers!

We will pay $14.65 for good and choice hogs, 160 to 400 pounds.

THIS IS NET TO YOU, AND WE WILL TRUCK THEM.

We will pay $14.70 on all lots, large or small, delivered to our plant.

In order to conserve tires and gasoline, we will follow our present system on small lots, namely, to pick up two or more lots on one trip. This may necessitate a delay of a day, or a few days, but as hogs are at the ceiling and will probably be for sometime, you will not have to worry about price fluctuations.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—AP—Grain futures, liquid from the start, suffered additional losses when Commission House liquidation developed at mid-session today. Rye led the break and at times was off three cents a bushel.

The demand was limited in all pits and analysts said the markets had been weakened technically by the broad short covering movement of the last two weeks. The break uncovered stop-loss orders which accelerated the sell-off.

A flurry of Commission House selling and a wave of long liquidation uncovered stop-loss orders in May rye all the way down from $1.14.

Wheat was sharply lower, not so much because of heavy selling but because buyers backed away from the offerings. There was some evidence of long liquidation.

Lack of buying power also was responsible for the break in corn. Cash handlers reported 200,000 bushels offered for deferred delivery.

At the finish wheat was 2 1/2 to 3% lower than yesterday's close. May $1.05 1/2. Corn was off 1 to 1 1/2. May $1.11 1/2. Rye was 3 to 3 1/2 lower. May $1.12 1/2. Barley was off 1/2 to 1 1/2. May $1.10 1/2.

Three Games Won By Bloomingburg From Good Hope

Bloomingburg cagers took a triple win from Good Hope Wednesday night—beating the varsity game 42-30.

Wayne High basketballers started off the varsity game in a flash of scoring that put them ahead 15-10 at the end of the first quarter. It was then that the Burgers got down to business with Henry and Dumford whirling in a flurry of field goals. The two boys between them racked up 29 points.

At the half the score stood at 21-19 and by the end of the third quarter, the Bloomingburg squad had stretched the score to 31-25 in their favor. Cardiff, Good Hope mainstay, scored 10 points.

The Bloomingburg reserves defeated Wayne 23-10 and the junior high squad also added a win with a 28-11 victory over the Good Hope Juniors.

The two teams will meet again next Thursday. In the meantime, Bloomingburg meets Madison Mills Tuesday.

The Bloomingburg victories came after a 54-42 defeat at the hands of Leesburg Tuesday night.

PAPER FROM BAMBOO

CITED AS POSSIBILITY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Bamboo culture may become important in the Western hemisphere, although the giant grass is not likely to be used as it is in the Orient, according to Dr. F. A. McClure, consultant of the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations, writing in Agriculture in the Americas, U. S. Department of Agriculture monthly.

Paper can be manufactured from bamboo and the possibility of using it for rayon is being tested, Dr. McClure says.

New techniques permit impregnation of the bamboo with plastics, stiffening it, reducing water absorption, preventing insect attacks and permitting a beautiful finish.

NO CLOSINGS HERE THURSDAY TO SAVE FUEL

Situation Assumed To Be Better - Plans for Future Ready If Action Needed

It was "business as usual" for Washington C. H. Thursday.

Walter L. Stambaugh, the city manager, Thursday morning said he would not issue a proclamation asking businesses to close all day on Thursdays—at least not now.

He said he based his decision on information that Gov. Frank J. Lausche said he would not declare another state-wide fuel conservation holiday next week.

Lausche said also that the decision to suspend business, if it were made, was to be determined by a committee of business people to be called into conference later.

The purpose of the businessmen's meeting here Monday night was to select a day for closing in case a proclamation were issued asking a one day a week suspension of business, it was explained. The group voted on Thursday closings and informed Stambaugh of their decision.

The statement Stambaugh issued Thursday is:

"In view of the information received and the facts as they exist in regard to the closing of business establishments in order to conserve fuel, I am of the opinion that the emergency in Washington C. H. is not serious enough to justify me to issue a proclamation at the present time asking all business establishments to close.

"A communication received this morning from the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants pointing out that Governor Lausche has stated that it would not be necessary to close for one day next week further justifies my opinion that no proclamation should be issued at least for the present.

"It is my sincere hope that the situation will be eased sufficiently after next week until no proclamation will be necessary.

"All business establishments will continue on regular schedules until the week of February 19 or until such time as we may see fit to issue a proclamation asking them to close. Having been in the retail business myself, I realize the problems that the businessmen are up against and to not wish to throw any additional inconvenience on anyone by asking them to close unless it becomes absolutely necessary.

Gov. Lausche said he would leave to individual local communities a decision as to whether non-essential business concerns and schools should again close next Monday because of the fuel shortage.

He explained that his request for closing still stands but that it would be up to the local communities to determine whether their fuel shortages are so acute as to require another five-day week.

The original closing request called for it to be in effect until April 1.

move them immediately, and that they were likely to be hit by guns or mortar fire if left exposed, he set to work.

He blew a hole in frozen earth with TNT and after two hours of rugged digging had a hole big enough to shelter the two men. He pulled them over to the refuge while bullets whined overhead.

They lay there until the enemy was forced back. Andrews had the usual reaction of a medic when complimented.

"It's all in a day's work," he said.

Several German prisoners report that German officers have ordered three months in jail and no furloughs for a year for any Nazi soldier who becomes a casualty as the result of frostbite or trench foot.

This apparently is an attempt to discourage deliberate exposure of feet and hands to escape combat.

One soldier sent back was halted by his battalion commander, who penciled a note on the casualty's identity tag that he was to be jailed for three months and deprived of furloughs. The Nazi soldier, equally angry, circled around, crawled into American lines and gave himself up.

HEAVY THAWING IS FOLLOWED BY MORE SNOWFALL

Little Water Enters Creeks And More Freezing Is Scheduled

With a maximum temperature of 36 degrees, Wednesday afternoon, and temperature above the freezing point most of the night, a pronounced thaw of the thick sheet of ice and snow sent small rivers of water down gutters and in some places the outfalls were clogged, so that it was necessary for the street crew to relieve the backed up water in the streets.

Following the overnight thaw, additional snow was falling Thursday and adding still further to the disagreeable conditions underfoot and on many highways that are still covered with ice.

At 9 P.M. Wednesday night the mercury was 33 and at 8 A.M. Thursday it was 32. It remained in the low 30's well into Thursday.

So far no water has reached the reservoir at the pumping station, and there are some indications that the long record of drought in 1930-31 may be reached or passed.

During the drought of 1930-31, 7 months and 10 days elapsed from the time water ceased flowing over the dam at the pumping station until it resumed flowing and started water pouring down the channel of Paint Creek through the city.

So far 7 months and 8 days have elapsed since water stopped running over the dam last summer, and at that time flow was resumed February 17.

Water in large pools is standing in fields, due to ice and frozen ground.

More than eight weeks have elapsed since the present siege of winter weather started.

FAYETTE COUNTY BOYS IN SERVICE

Pvt. James E. Eubanks has been promoted to private first class, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Eubanks, 1025 Lakeview Avenue.

Pfc. Eubanks entered service March 4, 1944, and is now stationed at the Kingman Army Air Field, Kingman, Arizona, having graduated from technical school in Amarillo, Texas.

Pvt. Everett G. Lower, formerly of Camp Maxey, Texas, has received an honorable medical discharge from the Army Air Corps, and is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Lower, 252 Henkle Street, for a few days.

He served in the air forces for 25 months.

After visiting his parents and friends here, he plans to go to Millville, New Jersey, where he will join his wife to make their future home.

CHERRY POINT, N. C.—Marine Master Technical Sergeant Harold R. Armbrust, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Armbrust, of Route 5, Washington C. H., O., has been promoted from technical sergeant to his present rank at the Marine Corps Air Station here.

He entered the Marine Corps on November 28, 1942, at Cincinnati and is now on duty with an aviation engineering squadron at prisoner cage and organized a search of the house. In the cellar he found five more Nazis huddled in blankets.

Leading a four-man patrol, Sgt. Thomas L. Ayers of Galveston, Texas, heard talking and the clanking of mess gear about 50 yards ahead.

The patrol crept forward until they could see an entire Nazi company lining up forchow.

Knowing artillery and mortar fire would cause more damage than the fire from a lightly armed patrol, the four men withdrew and gave company headquarters the map coordinates of the German chow line.

Within a few minutes American 105mm shells and heavy mortars blanketed the enemy's outdoor mess hall. When First Division doughboys overran the position they found many dead Germans still clinging to their mess-kits.

Richard Harding Davis, American journalist, came by his profession through his father, who was a newspaper editor, and his mother, who was a novelist.

Pvt. Fred T. Stegall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey V. Stegall, Jeffersonville, R. I., has been sent from Camp Atterbury, Indiana, to Ft. McClellan, Ala.

The Commanding General of the Alaskan Department, U. S. Army, has awarded the Meritorious Service Unit Plaque to the organization with which Pfc. Floyd A. Pettit, of 603 Fourth St., Washington C. H., has been serving in the Aleutians.

The award was made by Lt. Gen. Emmons in recognition of "superior performance of duty in the execution of exceptionally difficult tasks."

Pfc. Pettit is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pettit, of 603 Fourth St., Washington C. H., and has been serving with the armed forces since his induction March 16, 1943.

"Capt. Bruce A. Zerkle, quartermaster corps, United States Army, by direction of the President, is awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States in France from 20 September, 1944 to 9 December, 1944.

"The initiative, energy and exceptional devotion to duty of Captain Zerkle, Commanding Officer, reflect high credit upon himself and merits the highest commendation."

The above citation was received by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Zerkle of St. Paris, Ohio, which was received from their son, Capt. Zerkle on February 5.

Capt. Zerkle has a number of friends here in this city, where he was employed by the Pure Oil Co., prior to entering the service.

TWO MEN FINED FOR COAL THEFT

Complaints Are Filed by B. & O. Patrolman

Facing charges of coal theft, filed by Fred G. Buskirk, B. and O. Road Patrolman, two men were fined in Judge R. H. Sides' court, Thursday morning.

Charles Penwell was fined $15 and costs, or $21.20 in all, to a charge of stealing coal from the B. and O. Railroad, and Elmer Lemmings, 21, who drew $5 and costs on a similar charge.

It was made plain by Judge Sides that he would not tolerate thefts of coal, and that offenders may expect prompt punishment in his court when circumstances are similar to those in the two cases before him Thursday.

DAUGHERTY HOMESITE BOUGHT BY HALLIDAY

Tract of 1.3 Acre Once Laid Out for Building Lots

Carroll Halliday has purchased the 1.3-acre tract at the point at the western terminus of Court Street from M. S. Daugherty and the H. M. Daugherty estate, it has been learned from reliable sources.

Some time ago, the tract which is bounded by Clinton and Leesburg avenues on the sides and Draper Street on the west, was plotted by M. S. Daugherty into 11 lots suitable for home sites, but no sustained sales promotion was ever started.

There is one house, generally considered the oldest in the city, on the tract—in the point at east. Built more than 100 years ago, it was the original homestead of Mr. and Mrs. Micajah Draper, grandparents of the two Daugherty brothers who went on to carve careers for themselves—Mal S. Daugherty at one time one of the county's most influential citizens as a bank president and Harry M. Daugherty as the attorney general of the United States in President Warren G. Harding's cabinet. Harry Daugherty died about two years ago and is buried in the massive mausoleum he had erected in the cemetery here. Mal Daugherty lives in retirement at his home on Temple Street.

Two brothers, Charles and Francis died in their youth.

The sale of Harry Daugherty's interest in the property was handled by the Huntington National Bank, trustee for his estate.

Halliday had no comment to make concerning his purchase or what plans for its development he might have.

HELPLESS WOUNDED YANK MADE INTO BOOBY TRAP IN NO MAN'S LAND BY NAZIS

in a manner, sealed.

At 10:30 A. M., he called for a medic. The enemy heard him but did not find him.

He heard an American medic whisper: "Are you a GI?"

"Hell, yes, I'm a GI," he replied. "Don't make any noise and we'll get you out," the medic whispered.

They lifted him from the ground, but the Germans had seen the rescuers and sent a rifle bullet crashing into the hand of one of the medics.

They dropped back. Later they tried to get to him again but German fire drove them away.

The second night, three Germans came.

He asked for water. They refused it. They took his field jacket, divided up five packages of cigars in the pockets, then set to work booby-trapping him.

"I lay on the charge the next day and into the night," he said. "I smoked some cigarettes the Germans failed to find. I knew I would never leave the forest alive."

About 2 A. M. men of another company came in to get the wounded. He directed the cutting of the wires to the charge under his back.

He had lain there for 70 hours.
